

The First National Bank of Central Texas

The First National Bank of Central Texas (FNBCT) expanded into Gatesville, Texas, to align with its mission of community-focused banking and to serve the growing financial needs of Coryell County. The new 4,600-square-foot facility at 2908 E. Main Street was designed with local culture in mind, featuring amenities like a community boardroom and outdoor pavilion to foster local engagement.

FNBCT's objectives for the Gatesville branch have been met and exceeded. The bank's active participation in community events, such as donating $50,000 to five local nonprofits during the ribbon-cutting ceremony, underscores its dedication to community development. The branch's growth and positive reception indicate that FNBCT's expansion into Gatesville has successfully fulfilled its goals of providing personalized banking services and strengthening community ties.

Beyond financial services, the goal is that the branch quickly becomes a hub for local connection. The outdoor pavilion will be used to support local meetings and initiatives that weave itself into the fabric of Gatesville life. FNBCT continues to prioritize relationships over transactions, embodying the core belief that strong communities begin with trust and service.
